

ASK PRIVATE COACHES

Ask great questions about the science behind their teaching, the models they use to influence their methods as well as their practice requirements and expectations of future performance.

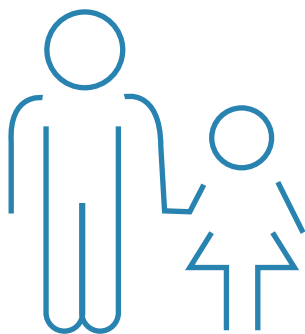

ASK COLLEGES

If your daughter is thinking about four more years of softball after high school, then there are many questions you'll want to ask the people at the colleges who will be a part of those four years.

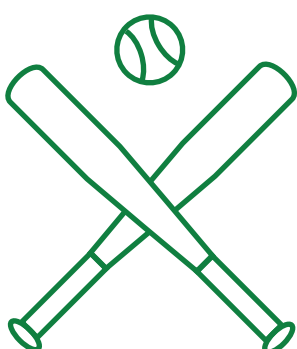

ASK YOURSELF

How do your kids' sports activities impact your life? Be sure you're comfortable with the time commitment and the people who will be working with your child.

ASK YOUR CHILD

All of the champions we know love the game. They have a relationship with sports that started at a young age. Ask your kid if she is having fun and play with her to find out what she's learning. Play other sports, too!

ASK YOUR LEAGUE

You'll want to know about the time commitment, the training of the coaches, and why they teach what they teach.
